H.O.D.'s Message:-

The Mechanical Engineering Department established in 2010 has intake of 60 students. Mechanical Engineering is one of the major streams in the engineering profession and its principles are involved in the design, development, production and construction of nearly all of the physical devices and systems. Mechanical engineers use the basic principles of motion, energy, and force to design and manufacture a vast-range of products. Mechanical Engineering is a creative profession in which students are trained to conceive, construct, test, and operate all kinds of mechanical, thermal, and biomedical devices.

The Department along with well-equipped teaching staff also has well established Machine shop & Workshop, CNC Lab, Fluid Mechanics & Machinery Lab, Thermal Engineering Lab, Theory of Machine Lab, Manufacturing process Lab, Mechanical Engineering Materials Lab, Metrology & Quality Control Lab, Industrial Fluid Power Lab, along with the Academic development, various activities are organized to develop soft skills of the students such as Paper Presentation, Industrial Visits and Expert Lectures etc.

The Mechanical Engineering Department at BSIET Polytechnic aims to create high-caliber mechanical engineers for a demanding profession which helps them to learn how to design and conduct experiments and to collect, analyze, and interpret data.
